

- Outdoor $0.71/square foot

This option does not present operational challenges to the TTC, as the proposed effective date coincides with the first day of the third fiscal quarter of Fiscal Year 2022-2023 and aligns with established quarterly reporting start dates.

After adjusting for these reductions, commercial cannabis business tax revenue estimates for cultivation activities in FY 22-23 would be reduced from $7.25m to $5.26m. This estimate should not be considered static, as it is subject to changes resulting from cultivation canopy modifications and business closures throughout the fiscal year.

This option will have budgetary impacts from the perspective of how the Recommended Budget is built. At the same Board meeting in December, staff proposed reductions to the Program budget. The Program requested the Human Resources Department (HRD) evaluate the proposed position changes to determine potential workforce impacts. Below are their findings.

- For the cannabis position changes, most of the departments indicate they will identify alternative funding to retain the positions in their department. For one department position, the department has requested to keep the position as unfunded and unfilled until alternative funding can be identified. For one department position, the department has requested to eliminate the position and fill a vacancy in the same classification in another unit.
- HRD has determined, with the current proposed list for cannabis related position changes, there will be no reduction in force impacts to employees.

These proposed reductions were approved by the Board with an effective date of February 1, 2023. Funding for the balance of FY 22-23 will be absorbed within the budgets of affected departments while allocations for Public Health initiatives related to youth prevention/intervention and public awareness will be funded through the Cannabis Tax Assignment.

The ordinance was introduced for its first reading on January 31, 2023 and is currently before the Board of Supervisors for final adoption. Redlined and clean versions of the Ordinance are attached to this report as Attachments A and B, respectively.
