EXHIBIT A, SCOPE OF SERVICES/PAYMENT PROVISIONS PROJECT OVERVIEW

Corazon, Inc. is pleased to provide this proposal to undertake a strategic planning process for vascular services at Natividad Medical Center (NMC). The vascular services under this review include coronary, neurointerventional, and peripheral vascular. This process includes facilitating strategic sessions with key stakeholders to discuss and review the current situation, external market information and dynamics, and the suggested and then endorsed goals and initiatives. The engagement will evaluate the inclusion of cardiology and neuroscience service offerings within the vascular program.

Corazon will apply their vast experiences, the Corazon business planning model, data analysis and interpretation, and facilitated stakeholder forums to define the optimal market position and strategic direction for all vascular services and the organization. This engagement will focus in particular on identifying opportunities to grow vascular services to complement the existing service offerings (Level II Trauma, IR modular lab, neuroscience, cardiology), and the evaluation of new and innovative vascular services to act as a market differentiator within Monterey County. Recommendations related to finding ways for all participants to gain from the initiatives and to increase operational efficiencies will be proposed.

The engagement will be conducted through the following two phases which include an operational assessment followed by the strategic plan development.

PROJECT SCOPE

Phase I will provide an on-site assessment of the existing vascular services offerings to gain a clear understanding of the current situation and identify gaps where NMC may capitalize on existing opportunities. Corazon will use a multi-prong approach to ensure that cardiac, neurosciences, and peripheral vascular offerings are fully considered. In summary, the assessment will evaluate the key components of the program based on Corazon's knowledge of vascular program excellence and best practice standards of care.

The engagement will include a comprehensive facility tour to assess the existing components and dedicated facility space to house the vascular program (i.e., former medical records department). While on-site, the consultants will conduct up to ten (10) individual interviews/meetings with key stakeholders, medical staff, and management team to solicit the opinions and ideas related to vascular service expansion.

Natividad Medical Center
Exhibit A, Scope of Services/Payment Provisions

The objectives related to the assessment phase are as follows:

- Retrieve, analyze, and synthesize any relevant additional operations data, including volumes, to identify opportunities that promote operating efficiency;
- Tour NMC service areas and review existing floor plans;
- Conduct an assessment through interviews and direct observation of the current operational capabilities including: service efficiencies, equipment age and capabilities, and medical staff support;
- Evaluate the current operational and programmatic components of the various vascular service offerings against current benchmarks. Key standards to be addressed are:
 - Program Management
 - Delivery of Care
 - Clinical & Data Information Management
 - Performance Management
- Determine the unique characteristics of the NMC vascular service offerings, including:
 - Strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and threats,
 - Key clinical and/or operational issues;
- Understand any physician manpower needs;
- Assess the medical staff commitment, in particular the interventional neurologist, endovascular surgeon, interventional cardiologist, radiologists, emergency, and primary care physicians, and the community support for vascular program expansion. Determine medical staff opinions related to the vascular service offerings and potential program development;
- Review any existing documents, data collection systems, and patient flow;
- Evaluate effectiveness of internal resources, with a focus on the management structure, case management model, clinical quality, supply and overall cost management outcomes;
- Evaluate the organizational structure, medical staff leadership, and functionality of vascular services and recommend any changes that would best integrate medical staff and organizational needs to advance the service lines;
- Define any equipment and facility needs required for vascular market growth, differentiation, and program expansion; and,
- Provide a summary session at the end of the visit for key administrative and physician leadership to provide immediate feedback from the assessment / review.

Phase II will incorporate the findings from above and will identify and define the program requirements to include an external market analysis, volume projections, capacity requirements, facility design, physician manpower, staffing, and equipment needs associated with vascular service expansion. The scope of achieving those requirements is described in the sections of the plan development below.

Internal Assessment & External Market Analysis

Natividad Medical Center
Exhibit A, Scope of Services/Payment Provisions

- Identify opportunities for market share growth through vascular program (cardiac, neuro, and peripheral vascular) development (coordinated care) and expanded market penetration;
- Evaluate referral patterns and opportunities for community outreach through program development or physician manpower;
- Facilitate meetings to discuss vascular market potential, credentialing, and standardization;
- Explore opportunities to align physicians through program development, partnerships, and other relationship building initiatives;
- Determine the level of cardiology and/or neuroscience services that should be included in the vascular program (combined program). Evaluate the current collaborative (if any) structure and recommend any changes as appropriate;
- Explore the current credentialing for vascular at NMC, including requirements for vascular service expansion if appropriate. Provide the society requirements and assist in determining the best approach;
- Gain and apply market intelligence in the region to position the program for success; and,
- Integrate the findings to develop market share and volume projections for key vascular services over the next five (5) years.

In parallel to the above activities, Corazon will retrieve, analyze, and synthesize market share and utilization data to provide the following:

- Apply current utilization statistics in the region, practice changes, and technology trends in vascular services to the analysis;
- Define the Vascular Service Area (VSA) for NMC;
- Analyze population demographics, mortality, and the out-migration statistics;
- Evaluate the out-migration of coronary, neurointerventional, and peripheral vascular cases from VSA and the reasons;
- Prepare and validate market demand projections within the VSA;
- Calculate VSA utilization rates and compare to regional and national rates; and,
- Estimate projected volumes for the vascular program over the next five years.

Financial Pro Forma Development

Corazon has developed a proven business model that integrates the market, operational, and financial parameters of vascular program expansion. This detailed financial analysis will define the discreet financial investment required to meet the recommended market and strategic objectives. This information will allow for the completion of a five (5) year pro forma analysis that will project the payback period and return on investment of an expanded vascular program at NMC.

The pro forma will be developed utilizing the market information, capacity needs, operating requirements, recommended staffing levels and recruitment, as well as the financial parameters provided by the NMC Finance Department. All financial assumptions will be developed in collaboration with NMC leadership.

Strategy Identification & Plan Development

Corazon will aggregate the findings from the Phase I assessment, and the Phase II market, operational, and financial analyses and develop a five (5) year strategic plan for vascular services. The strategies and initiatives included in the plan will focus on the following:

- Facilitate meetings to present findings and deliberate with the NMC team to devise the common vision and the primary goals for vascular program development among the key stakeholders;
- Develop and validate all planning assumptions with the parties involved to gain consensus as the process evolves;
- (As needed) Conduct multiple Corazon Snap Surveys(CSS) to determine opportunities and their associated priority and barriers, determine level of physician engagement or any other area identified through project that would require consensus and/or anonymity;
- Gain endorsement and consensus to ratify the plan by key constituents in the hospital and medical staff;
- Prepare a written plan that reports all findings and defines the five (5) year goals, priorities and recommendations for the development and growth of the vascular program; and,
- Include in the plan the key actions and estimated timeframe of the recommended, prioritized and endorsed strategies.

Project Deliverable

The planning process will provide a summary report of findings that will present the vascular program growth rationale, market findings, internal assessment, and the strategic alternatives and opportunities. This document will outline strategic recommendations and detail the strategies, actions, priorities, and critical success factors, and an implementation plan defining the timeframe and activities. The findings will be compared with industry standards and benchmarks, information from national registries, and Corazon's previous experiences with similar programs.

The five (5) year vascular strategic plan will be the framework for the prioritization and implementation of the actions required for program and service line growth and success.

OVERALL APPROACH

NMC will name a Project Leader and will identify members of the NMC Project Team/s with advice from the consultants. The NMC Project Leader/s will designate an internal contact to coordinate schedules and communications.

The engagement will include continuous on-site and back office consultative support to include up to two (2) on-site visits by Corazon. Corazon anticipates this support will be provided over a three (3) month timeframe. The initial operations gap assessment will require one day on-site. The final visit (review final recommendations) will also be conducted over one on-site day.

In an effort to reduce overall travel related expenses, the initial project findings and recommendations (second presentation) will be presented via remote telecommunication methods (ex. GoTo Meeting). NMC can request Corazon come on-site to formally present initial project findings for the per diem fee outlined below the fee schedule.

If needed due to schedule conflicts, the project timeline will be extended by two (2) weeks (equate to total of 14 weeks) to allow for the holiday season.

Following approval to proceed with the engagement, the consultants will supply the Project Leader with a comprehensive information request to initiate data retrieval from the Planning, Marketing, and various Clinical Departments. The Project Team will provide direct assistance for the data needs required for the engagement.

Regular contact with the Project Leader will occur to chart progress, review the project status and current issues, and secure any outstanding needs to ensure timely and accurate completion of the engagement.

Corazon Commitment to Best Practice

Corazon will incorporate current Healthcare Reform policies into all of the above activities, initiatives, and strategies as they apply to the organization. In addition, in an effort to educate client constituents, Corazon is offering unlimited access to Corazon sponsored webinars and audio conferences for a period of one year from the date of contract authorization.
