RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that the Board of Supervisors introduce, waive reading, and set October 28, 2014 at 1:30 P.M. as the date and time to consider adoption of an ordinance (attachment B) amending Chapter 16.40, commonly known as the “Right to Farm” ordinance, of the Monterey County Code in order to increase the protection of agricultural operations from nuisance claims, with the goal of promoting the long-term protection of agricultural lands in Monterey County.

SUMMARY:

On August 27, 2014, the Monterey Planning Commission recommended to the Board of Supervisors adoption of the draft Right-to-Farm ordinance (see Attachment D for Planning Commission Resolution). The proposed ordinance (Attachment B) would apply in both the inland and coastal areas of the County, as does the existing Chapter 16.40.

The proposed ordinance is intended to reduce conflicts at the agricultural/urban boundary by educating residents, especially newcomers, as to the realities of living near modern agricultural operations. The theory is if residents are advised that dust, noise, spray and odors are typical accompaniments to agricultural practices, residents will be less likely to complain or go to court over such annoyances, thereby reducing the risk to the agriculture industry. It is important to note, however, that this ordinance does not prevent farmers from being sued over agricultural practices, even those that are accepted customs and standards.

The proposed ordinance would amend Monterey County Code (MCC) Chapter 16.40 entitled “Protection of Agricultural Activities” which is commonly referred to as the “Right-to-Farm” ordinance. The proposed ordinance would reinstate a disclosure section that was repealed in 1994. In staff’s opinion, this disclosure would be the primary approach toward strengthening the Right-to-Farm chapter. Therefore, the proposed ordinance includes the following types of disclosure: notification through real property sales and notification through building permit applications. The ordinance also changes the resolution dispute process to a less formal process, administered by the Agricultural Commissioner as opposed to an assigned committee.

DISCUSSION:

In the inland area, the ordinance implements the 2010 Monterey County General Plan Policy AG-1.9, which reads as follows:

“Agricultural operations in accord with all applicable laws and regulations and consistent with properly accepted customs and practices shall be given increased protection from nuisance claims through strengthening the County’s “Right-to-Farm” ordinance. Said ordinance shall establish the strongest, most effective possible noticing requirements to make property owners located near agricultural operations aware of potential conditions that are accepted practices within Monterey County.”

Applying this ordinance in the coastal zone is also appropriate because Chapter 16.40 currently applies countywide, and the ordinance is consistent with the Coastal Act and the County’s certified Local Coastal Program. The Coastal Act requires that the maximum amount of prime agricultural land be maintained in production to assure the protection of the area’s economy. Currently, the majority of the County’s coastal Land Use Plans have agricultural protection policies such as the North County Land Use Plan (LUP 2.6.1), the Big Sur Land Use Plan (LUP 3.6.1), and the Carmel Land Use Plan (LUP 2.6.2). Coastal Commission certification of this ordinance is not required because Chapter 16.40 is not part of the County’s Local Coastal Program.

The proposed ordinance underwent several changes as a result of several Agricultural Advisory Committee meetings and Planning Commission’s direction. For further discussion, see Attachment A.

CEQA

The proposed ordinance is not a project under the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) per CEQA Guidelines Sections 15060(c) (3) and 15378 (b)(5) because the ordinance is an organizational or administrative activity of government that will not result in direct or indirect physical changes in the environment.
