SUMMARY:

On March 08, 2022, the Collins application to rezone a 21-acre property from the Resource Conservation, Coastal Zone ["RC(CZ)"] to Watershed and Scenic Conservation, 40 acres per unit, design Control, Special Treatment, Coastal Zone ["WSC/40-D-SpTr(CZ)"] was heard before the Board of Supervisors. The Resource Conservation Zoning District of Title 20 does not allow residential development whereas Watershed and Scenic Conservation Zoning District does allow residential development. After review and consideration of the facts before the Board and public testimony given, the Board adopted a motion of intent to deny the applicant's request to rezone the property and continued the hearing to a date uncertain to allow time to prepare a resolution for denial. In developing the resolution of intent to deny the request, the Board considered factors including that the proposed rezoning would weaken the protection of views, slopes, and biology at the site. The purpose of Resource Conservation zoning is "to provide a district to protect, preserve, enhance, and restore sensitive resource areas in the County of Monterey," (Monterey County Code, Title 20 (coastal zoning), Section 20.36.010.). According to Monterey County Geographical Information Systems, the property contains sensitive resources. Multiple Environmentally Sensitive Habitat Areas and special status species are known to occur on the property. Additionally, the entire property is within the public viewshed when viewed from Point Lobos and parts of Highway 1 and contains slopes exceeding 30%. Although there are policies and regulations within the Carmel Area Land Use Plan and Coastal Implementation Plan that require the preservation of such resources, the proposed rezone would allow for reasonably foreseeable development that would impact these resources.

A resolution for consideration has been prepared (Exhibit A) that reflects the Board of Supervisors intent to find that a zoning amendment resulting in reasonably foreseeable residential development is inconsistent with purpose of the current zoning district and is not protective of the sensitive resources at the site.

ENVIRONMENTAL REVIEW:

The Board's action on the rezone is exempt from CEQA under Public Resources Code Section 21080(b)(5) and CEQA Guidelines Section 15270(a) as a project that is "disapproved."
