

Attachment A

Note: These groundwater contours represent a regional-scale approximation of the groundwater surface, based on available hydrogeological data, illustrating general groundwater flow patterns. They should not be interpreted as precise or localized features.